Anonymous Donors Contribute $100,000 Towards Construction of New *People for People Community Center

Philadelphia – A local couple who prefer to keep their identity a private matter, have given a contribution of $100,000 towards the construction of the new People for People Community Center, for the benefit of low income children and their families in North Central Philadelphia.

Reverend Dr. Herbert H. Lusk, II, Founder and CEO of People for People, Inc., has publicly and privately thanked and praised the extraordinary generosity of these partners in the work of PFP. "This donation comes from people with enormous hearts and a true understanding of exactly how seriously we need this community center. Our children are at great risk without it due to safety issues of all kinds, and with it, we will be able to affect tremendous changes in the lives and well-being of our youth and their families. I am deeply grateful, and I thank them from the bottom of my heart."

People for People continues to raise the funds needed to begin construction of the center which will provide not only a basketball court and fitness equipment for people for all ages, but science labs, computer labs and safe space where children and parents from the community can come for all kinds of activities and events away from the dangers on the streets.

People interested in making a contribution towards this need may do so by sending a check to People for People, Inc. which is designated for the PFP Community Center to:
